

Major Findings

- Over the first 300 years of its history, 125,000 acres of land were developed in Delaware.
- It only took 18 more years (1984 to 2002) for another 118,000 acres to be developed - certainly more than 125,000 by today.